CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of it in Klamath Falls, But Daily Growing Less

The kidneys often cry for help.
Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed; Not one more important to health.
The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.
There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.
It is often the kidneys' cry for help.

Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys.
Proof of merit in the following statement:

John Kremer, Ashcroft, Ore., says: "For years I suffered from kidney trouble, and although I used one remedy after another, I was unsuccessful in finding relief until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved so beneficial that I am only too pleased to give them my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 25 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, States.

LOOK YEARS YOUNGER! GRAY HAIR DARKENED BEAUTIFULLY WITH SAGE

Sage and Sulphur Will Stop Falling Hair and Cure Dandruff

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and aged hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 30 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of man-

Here 35 Girl Fire Victims Are Buried

This photograph, taken after the fire which destroyed the Binghamton, N. Y., clothing factory, where some sixty-three girls lost their lives, shows the smoldering ruins where the bodies of thirty-five victims are believed to be buried. Firemen and others have worked night and day digging in the brick and mortar to haul out the bodies. In the meantime, the investigations to determine on whose shoulders should rest the blame for the loss of life are under way

Cooperative Dairying is Studied by American Commissioners While Inspecting Germany's Farm Life

KLEINKUGEL, Germany, Aug. 1— Operations of a co-operative dairy society have been studied here by a sub-committee of the American Commission on Agricultural Co-Operation.

Members of the society own in all about 250 cows. Each member is required to own at least two cows, and to take out at least one share of stock, costing $3.

However, many of the members own more than the required two cows and purchase one share of stock for each two cows. One of the members who received the commission owns thirty cows and $36 worth of stock.

The milk of the members is brought each day to the dairy by the members themselves. The dairy is operated to make a small profit, but this margin is simply a guard against losses, and not a means to pay dividends to the members.

At the present time the society has not paid off the mortgages on its buildings, and so the profits, after a portion are placed in a reserve fund, are paid as interest and principal on these loans. Members of the dairy receive cash for their milk from the dairy. It is bought according to the percentage of butter fat which it contains.

The butter milk and skimmed milk is returned to the farmers for cheese making and food for hogs. In another village the commissioners saw a co-operative dairy where the hogs are kept by the society, and where cheese was manufactured.

Because of superior quality of butter made at the co-operative dairy, as compared to butter made on the farms, the price obtained for co-operative butter averages about 15 per cent above the market price. The cost of making is considerably reduced, so that the increased returns to the members are satisfactory.

Dealers in butter are required to pay a local tax, but because of the co-operative and non-profit seeking character of this dairy no tax is required unless the dairy wishes to purchase milk from outside farmers. All members of the dairy are required to supply all of their milk, not required for use at home, to the co-operative dairy.

The manager of the dairy who appeared before the commissioners said that his salary was $450 a year, with a free house, free butter and milk allowed. Yet he was a trained dairyman and a graduate of one of the German dairy schools.

He told the commission something of these schools, in which the Germans place great store. In every German town there is one school in which dairymen are taught.

When the children are 14 years old if they have decided to become dairy farmers, they enter this school. The children are set at their work even at an earlier age, for they must receive a preliminary training at a dairy before they enter the school.

There was one pupil at the co-operative dairy preparing himself to enter the dairy school. It is not, of course, child labor, but simply vocational education carried on in connection with other school training.

The efficiency of the German agriculturalists and artisans is believed to rest largely upon this training, though from the American standpoint objection might be made to it on the ground that to train a child to manual labor from so early an age is apt to create classes within the country.

The importance of the co-operative credit societies in the development of other co-operative credit societies in the development of other co-operative enterprises was made readily apparent to the commissioners. The co-operative dairy owns its own land, but the building was erected on credit advanced by the local Raiffeisen Society.

Three and a half per cent interest is paid by the society upon all loans.
The principal of the loans is paid back by amortization in small annual installments.

On the dairy house this installment payment each year is 2 per cent of the amount of the loan. On the machinery it is 10 per cent, and on wagons 20 per cent. Higher payment on wagons and machinery are required because of depreciation in their value.
